Classes resume today

Threat of job action looms over high school

It is expected to be classes as usual in all public schools throughout Haliburton County and the Trillium Lakelands School Board area today. Secondary school teachers and the board have yet to reach an agreement, but the lack of a contract, for the moment, does not appear to be blocking the resumption of classes as usual.

Staffing and the teacher workload are two of the main issues slowing negotiations between secondary school teachers and the Trillium Lakelands District School Board. Although teachers are back in the classrooms, they will meet later in the week to consider further possible action.

Both sides have been meeting regularly in an attempt to hammer out a collective agreement between the board and the new Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation District 15. But the issue of teacher workload continues to be a contentious point. Last week the board told the OSSTF negotiating team that it was adding an additional 22 minutes, on average, per day, of instruction time.

According to the OSSTF, the average additional time will mean teachers will be in front of classes all four periods in each day. This, according to the union, cuts down on preparation time and does not allow students to have extra tutoring during spare periods. "The board has decided to impose conditions which will severely change the learning conditions of high school students in the Trillium Lakelands District School Board," said Peter Carroll, president of the district 15 teacher bargaining unit. "That sort of thing is unacceptable to us."

Carroll is also frustrated with the progress of the talks. "Negotiations have been progressing very slowly. We have not really accomplished any of the major issues," he said.

School Board Chair Cheryl Murdoch feels that although the process is tedious, the board is dedicated to the negotiations. "We are committed to working at this," said Murdoch. "We've got to get all of the pieces to fit."

According to Peter Carroll, all secondary school teachers will report for classes on September 8, however the OSSTF district 15 members will be meeting throughout the week to discuss the options available to them. The OSSTF has been in a legal strike position since mid-August.

As well, the board and the union representatives have scheduled three additional negotiation dates to be held in Haliburton County in September to attempt to resolve the dispute.

Final touches

Minden's first mural is all but complete. Artist John Lennard has been taking advantage of the ideal early fall weather to spend extra time adding the fine detail to the logging scenes. He is expected to finish this week. Work will start on the second community mural shortly. (For details about Minden's next mural, see page 4.)

With ranks of Canadian flags, members of the colour party lead the Kinmount Fall Fair parade down the community's main street. The fair drew thousands of people to the annual Labour day weekend event. For more photos of Saturday's parade see page 16.

Another almost perfect summer month. Lots of sunshine and enough rain to keep everything green. August average temperature was exactly the same as July. The chance of this happening would be very rare. We had more rain this August than July or last August. Heavy rains on August 9 and August 23 to 25 kept average rainfall about normal. Atlantic hurricanes have been very active. There have been three already and Danielle and Earl are in action now. Yet to come are Francis, George, Ivan, Jeanne, Karl and Lisa. There are more names. Let's hope they are never born or take the track of Hazel and a few others that have come their way.

Deputy Stanhope Fire Chief Tony Aymong, right, and Captain Steve Archibald are seen here with signs which will be posted soon at the firehall in anticipation of the County Firefighter Games and the department's 25th anniversary. The games will be held this Sunday, September 13, at the Stanhope municipal park behind the firehall. In conjunction with the games, the host department will have an historical display marking the anniversary.

Government grant for libraries $100,000 boost

The County of Haliburton Library Board will be receiving an operating grant worth over $100,000 from the Ministry of Citizenship, Culture and Recreation.

The grant is part of a total of $18.74 million in operating grants to public libraries in 1998. According to the Minister of Citizenship Isabel Bassett, funding to libraries will remain constant and in high growth areas it will increase as much as 7.66 per cent. The ministry used the most recent municipal household data to calculate this year's grants based on a funding formula of $4.80 per rural household for public libraries.

"The government's decision to maintain funding levels is great news for the Haliburton County Library Board," said MPP for Victoria - Haliburton Chris Hodgson.

After just one season in operation

Rescue sleighs program exceeds expectations

by Jerry Grozelle

Andy Chvedukas, chair of the Haliburton County Rescue Sleighs Committee, attended the Haliburton County Steering Committee meeting August 25 to present an update of progress over the past year.

The snowmobile trails are now safer thanks to the efforts of firefighters, ambulance personnel and police officers who assist with the project, Chvedukas told council. He added that with the added safety comes more of a sense of pride in what Haliburton County has to offer the sport.

"Our goals were to establish strategically placed rescue sleighs throughout the county to be used in snowmobile accident injury situations," Chvedukas said. "These sleighs were to be used as tools to assist all emergency personnel in these types of incidents. With volunteer fire departments willing to oversee the operation of this project and a committee to steer it in the right direction, the task had begun."

With donations from individuals and community organizations, rescue sleighs equipped with stretchers and backboards, were purchased.

"During the same time, various generous snowmobile dealers within the county donated the use of snowmobiles for the season," he added. "By February 1998, Haliburton, Cardiff, Stanhope, Minden and Dorset had the vehicles needed within the core of the county to provide the necessary service for snowmobile accident rescues to areas within the county where other vehicles could not dare to venture."

Chvedukas noted that the units are kept within the direct control of the fire departments. They remain stored indoors until they are needed.

Extensive training for fire department personnel has been conducted. The program "Sno-Pro", which is recognized throughout Canada as the system used to train emergency personnel, including the RCMP, in remote areas, has been purchased by county fire departments. It is designed exclusively for snowmobile safety, basic know-how of the snowmobile and rules and regulations of snowmobiling, Chvedukas pointed out.

"It is recognized by all snowmobile manufacturers and is a necessary training tool for persons involved in this type of work," he said.

In addition, two leading training specialists visited from the West Parry Sound Health Centre to conduct training exercises. They were involved with the same program two years earlier. All firefighters participating in the rescue exercises must be trained before they are allowed to participate in rescues.

Chvedukas said that the majority of the county's volunteer fighters are now trained and the remainder will be trained "in time to come."

Individual fire departments also conducted their own training sessions, using mock rescue situations whenever possible.

"The function of the fire departments was to use these sleighs as a tool and to act as a support group to assist the ambulance personnel -- not to make the rescues on their own initiative," Chvedukas explained.

He provided statistics from the first year of operation, where the sleighs were used. In addition to snowmobilers, four cross country skiers were transported to waiting ambulances by the rescue sleighs.

Chvedukas noted the numbers involved in the sport of snowmobiling is steadily increasing, as shown by the increase in the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association's membership. With the growing numbers of snowmobilers, it is inevitable that accidents will happen.

"As the co-ordinator and spokesman of this project, I come before you to declare that this committee has more than accomplished what was intended," he told council. "We have shown that we can be an example to the rest of Ontario with respect to not only making this county a beautiful place to snowmobile, but a very safety conscious place too."

He added that Dysart has recently purchased an off-road conversion kit and Minden is in the process of obtaining one as well.

"These off road kits will now make it possible for the fire departments to utilize the rescue sleighs in the spring, summer and fall for various activities such as hunting, biking and hiking, which are also steadily increasing in this county," he said. "As the sporting interests grow, the safety needs must also be addressed."

He told council that with its continued support, the Rescue Sleighs Committee will maintain and expand the program.

Warden Murray Fearrey congratulated Chvedukas on the thoroughness of his report.

Preparations underway for second mural

by Morris Duff, Minden Mural Committee

Before September is history, a team of sled dogs will race onto Minden's Main St. They will be Minden's second mural; artist Galen Valleau's fifth.

The six dogs and their driver will find a home in the third floor arch of the building next to the IDA. Valleau, a 42 year-old Donald artist will be the painter creating them.

Earlier this spring, Valleau painted the landscape in Haliburton's Village Square. It's a pastoral countryside scene, almost English, that has won raves from people who sit on the benches outside the old barn, munching their sandwiches and hot dogs. She also painted the mural of the SkyDome at McKeck's, the 50's car at the gas pump in Boomer's Cafe, the landscape mural associated with the Rhubarb Festival at Eagle Lake, and a two storey English garden at a friend's house.

The mural will be approximately 25 feet above the street, on the building where Apparitions, a native art store is located. Owned by IDA Pharmacists Paul and Janet Heffer, the building was erected three years ago.

Valleau will work on the mural in the vacant lot across the street. When completed, it will be hoisted into place.

From the beginning Heffer said he saw the archway as a perfect place for some art work. In fact, he even had a sketch of a dog team prepared when the structure was being built. When Minden's mural committee was formed last spring, Heffer approached the group with an offer to help pay for the mural that would fulfil his dream.

Valleau has lived in the Highlands for 13 years and currently lives in Donald. She grew up in the St. Clair - Avenue Road area of Toronto and attended the Ontario College of Art in 1976, majoring in sculpture.

"I didn't like living in the city," Valleau said, while being interviewed over a beer, in front of her mural of the SkyDome at McKeck's. A house fire, which consumed most of her belongings in Toronto, made the move easier.

Haliburton, as an artistic community with its School of Fine Arts, was suggested by a friend. Both got jobs quickly, she as a waitress at the Kozy Korner. Valleau now works at the Old Country House.

"I love small town life. I like being part of the community. It's a lot less anonymous than living in the city."

As a professional artist, Valleau has been a freelance painter responding to any request, but mostly portraits. She won new commissions by "word of mouth." Several years ago her work, mostly sculpture was part of a show at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery. Her goal is to be a part of the Studio Tour once her home in Donald is fully renovated to include a proper studio.

Valleau became a mural painter three years ago when another artist recommended her to do the landscape overlooking the store parking lot at Eagle Lake. "I was dying to try something that big," she recalled.

"But it did make me a little apprehensive. I'd never had anything constantly on display before. It was exciting and stressful at the same time."

Last year it had to be repainted. Valleau could not take time off from waitressing during the peak season so the job had to be done by volunteers under her guidance.

The indoor mural in Boomer's, a Halibur-ton restaurant that tries to recall life in the 1950's, depicts a Mercury pulled up to a real gas pump resting against the wall. It has neither a license plate nor a hood ornament, because the restaurant owner plans to attach the real things.

Co-owner Donna Brohm said it attracts a good deal of comment from the customers. "We're very happy with it," McKeck's is a sports bar just down the street. The main floor has a hockey environment, including a ceiling that looks like a hockey rink. Upstairs it's all baseball, and that's where Valleau's mural shows the SkyDome during the 1993 World Series between the Blue Jays and the Philadelphia Phillies.

Valleau admits she knew nothing about baseball so she had to do "a lot of research." Deliberately, she did not include and numbers or faces "because I didn't want a lot of clutter."

Some people, she added, have suggested they would pay to have their faces in the SkyDome crowd. Valleau has no interest.

Between Boomer's and McKeck's is the old livery barn that once housed the horses for customers at a nearby hotel. The outdoor area in front has become a tranquil resting place for downtown shoppers.

Owner Lawrence vanLieshout has created an area that has something different, that has some character, a village square with ambience. The focal point is Valleau's landscape. She noted that it has to be quiet and pastoral because of the restful location. The moose and rock cut obviously depict Haliburton. So, she feels, do the river and the swamp.

VanLieshout is pleased with the mural. "We have got so many compliments," he said.

"I think I can do a good job if I can keep it simple. The tendency with animals is to get lots of details," she said. But because of its location, high in the air, that detail will not be seen. "That will be a special challenge."

Mural Committee member Claudio Mestroni steadies the ladder as Tim Nicholson takes the measurements of the arch high over Minden's Main Street. The mural will be painted at ground level by artist Galen Valleau and hoisted into place when completed.

The planning process

The planning exercises being co-ordinated by Haliburton County Council have reached an important milestone in the efforts to help define the future of the Highlands. It has been over a year now since the first gathering at the Haliburton Legion laid the groundwork for a series of committees and sub-committees to take a serious look at what lies ahead and how the area could position itself advantageously. If past experience is anything to go by, creating a hierarchy of committees and sub-committees has always been a guaranteed route to oblivion for a process like this.

An exercise of this magnitude, of course, needs to have the tasks chopped into small bights, first to permit the closer scrutiny which is needed in some areas, and to allow those involved the luxury of time to assess the options and develop a plan. The inherent danger is that such a system can quickly evolve into an endless round of meetings that accomplish little while generating reams of reports. Without a shared vision and strong leadership, the effort can often become one of futility and disillusionment.

If this second round of open houses, basically an opportunity to touch base and report back to the people for whom all this work is being done, is any indication, the process appears to be fairly well on track. Most of the major sectors offered reports of substance and there seems to be a degree of enthusiasm and commitment to see the process through to the next year.

One concern with this sort of process is, often the end point is ill-defined and while there is interest to carry on, past a certain point the work may be redundant, unnecessary or something that should be handed over to another group with the power to implement the recommendations.

The fact that the planning process has in fact survived a year is in itself a testament to the tenacity of those involved. Congratulations are in order. Hopefully the enthusiasm which has brought the process to this point will sustain the various groups as they search out new opportunities for the Highlands

Opposed to the zoning change

Editor:

May I add another opposing voice to the proposed zoning amendment that has raised concern, and rightly so, among the business owners in the town of Minden.

The arguments made so well by Paul Hopkins (August 31) need not be reiterated by me: they stand on solid ground.

Surely it makes more sense to support the downtown businesses by providing the environment in which they can flourish rather than handicapping them by advocating competing retail development on the by-pass!

Write on!

Editor:

Right-oh!

I bet the pick-up driver was right ticked-off. I'll bet what you really meant (August 31, vehicle crushed by tree) was that his vehicle was write-off! Perhaps the next time you should give your proof-reader a little time off.

John Ellis,
Haliburton

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mea culpa. The proof reader caught it.

If the "primary purpose of the commercial planning is to ensure that there are sufficient opportunities for the shopping public to purchase goods and services," then it should follow that those shopping opportunities should not be denied to that segment of the public which does not have transportation.

In noting that there are fewer retail stores in Minden's downtown now than there were in 1986, perhaps the consultant should have paused to ask himself, "why?". How many fewer still will be left downtown if more retail stores go to the by-pass? That will probably not trouble the consultant unduly. Despite his assurances to the contrary, look at the devastation in other cities and towns to downtown business cores as suburban shopping developed.

So, before the Council of Anson, Hindon and Minden bestow the "coup de grace" to their downtown, I would like to say, find out how everybody who would be affected by the proposed changes feels about it.

Angela O'Neill
Minden

'Just managing to stay afloat'

Editor:

I am interested in your recent article about little support for the proposed zoning changes in Minden. Mr. Lehman, the planning consultant, talks of other towns, saying that in their downtown areas the merchants and retailers have adapted to change.

When I moved to Barrie in the mid sixties a widespread slogan was "Beautiful Downtown Barrie." Indeed it was just that, and a busy commercial place as well. The big problem of parking was not resolved; changes left the downtown behind. Now it is "Barrie by the bay". The downtown merchants, except three, did indeed adapt. They moved elsewhere, retired, sold their shops which became boutiques or bars. These places are not thriving, but just managing to keep afloat. The downtown area is not safe at night. Is a non-functioning downtown what we need in Minden as "adaptation" takes place?

Ontario Hospital AssociationHealth care should be the top priority

The following is a press release issued by the Ontario Hospital Association on September 2.

The Ontario Hospital Association (OHA) is calling on the federal government to make health care the first priority of the 1999 federal budget. In a brief submitted to the house of Commons Standing Committee on Finance, OHA president David MacKinnon states that, "Current Health funding is not sufficient to meet the needs of Canadians. Waiting lists, hospital deficits and exhausted front line health care workers are all symptomatic of a system under strain."

Calling on the federal government to direct its resources to reviving the health care system, Mr. MacKinnon adds, "The projected budget surplus, even a modest one, provides a unique opportunity for the federal government to make a significant contribution to improve the health of Canadians."

First among the five recommendations is the need for the federal government to provide an immediate $2.5 billion cash infusion for health, "which reflects the increasing demands currently being placed on the health care system due to population growth and changing demographics. It also recognizes a critical fact, that all across Canada, Hospitals are facing serious financing problems," noted MacKinnon.

The OHA's pre-budget brief focuses on the need for an immediate transfusion of funds to the health care system, the need for increased federal-provincial collaboration and the importance of fostering Canadian research and development. The brief makes the following five recommendations to the government for the upcoming federal budget.

- Provide a cash infusion of $2.5 billion, increasing the cash flow of the Canada Health Social Transfer to $15 billion. With an annual escalation to ensure cash transfers meet the health care needs of our growing, aging population.

- Create a separate, transparent federal transfer for health, allocated on a per-capita basis to ensure fair payments to all provinces.

- Ensure that the existing health care programs are properly funded before any new federal programs are introduced.

- Agree to trilateral terms and conditions with provinces and territories for the development, implementation and continuation of federal programs.

- Encourage research by reinvesting approximately 1% of Canada's health care expenditures into the federal health research granting agencies by 2003.

The selling of Snowdon

This is the second in a series of articles prepared from material gathered from the the BBC OnLine service regarding the sale of a portion of Snowdon Mountain in Northern Wales. The proposed sale has resulted in an outcry of concern from British residents and a campaign to raise £3,000,000 to purchase the property for the National Trust.

Sir Anthony Hopkins stood in the shadow of Snowdon today and told how he took on a leading role in a campaign to buy part of the mountain after witnessing the destruction around his own birthplace in south Wales. "I just wanted to do something to redress the balance," said the Oscar-winning actor. Snowdon is one of the most beautiful places in the world, he declared.

The Silence of the Lambs star was in north Wales to support the National Trust campaign to buy more than 4,000 acres of the southern flank of the 3,557ft peak. Sir Anthony, who has pledged £1 million to the appeal, flew into Britain from his Los Angeles home last week after completing his third film of the year, Instinct, with Cuba Gooding Junior. Today, striding across the Welsh mountainside

A little shut-eye at noon

I love sleep because it is both pleasant and safe to use.

Fran Leibowitz

I have a confession to make: I sleep on the job. Always have. 'Way back in my youth, when I worked as a tar-and-gravel roofer, I snatched cat naps behind the chimney when the boss wasn't looking. Later, as a seaman on a rusty tanker lugging crude oil from Venezuela to Halifax, I liked to creep off to the afterdeck and catch forty winks in the belly of the pythonesque rope lines piled there in huge, fragrant coils. I can still smell the seductive scent of hemp and oak they exuded as I dropped off.

Over the years, I've slept in delivery vans and broom closets; on hard-backed chairs and board room tables — almost always at the company's expense. It wasn't until a few years ago, when I achieved the luxury of my very own cubicle with a door on it, that I made a point of shelling out a few bucks for a Salvation Army chesterfield and took to snoozing on the job in earnest — not to mention comfort.

Hockey stars get Porsche convertibles for signing. John Travolta gets a Lear jet as a contract perk. Demi Moore demands her own hair stylist and a personal trainer for all her movie shoots. I get a lumpy, second-hand couch by my desk.

Not that I'm complaining. On the contrary, I consider myself to be singularly blessed. I know that I'm luckier than 95 percent of all the half-awake, couchless office drones I know.

I also know that I am — for once — ahead of my time.

It's too bad we North Americans attach such an ugly stigma to the concept of on-the-job naps. Other cultures aren't nearly so short-sighted. The Spanish and Italians figured out the benefits of recharging one's batteries at mid-day some centuries ago — and invented the siesta.

Ingenious! A three, sometimes four-hour break in the middle of the working day. Time enough to have a decent, unhurried lunch; to go for a leisurely stroll; to chew the fat with some friends, read a book, do a crossword, snuggle with your sweetie and — most important — snag some sack time.

We need it, you know. Scientists reckon that at least 50 percent of the population nowadays is grievously sleep-deprived. Most of us could use at least an hour of unconsciousness more than we're currently getting.

Statistics compiled by researchers down in the U.S. indicate that, on average, we're sleeping at least two hours less a night than our grandparents did. The results are depressingly obvious — a legion of baggy-eyed, under-performing serfs who aren't nearly as alert or as energetic as they ought to be on the job. Those same American scientists reckon that drowsy, yawning workers are costing the U.S. economy $70 billion a year in lost productivity.

Our biological cousins aren't that stupid. Apes and monkeys may never have figured out how to come down out of the trees, but they're smart enough to sleep between 10 and 12 hours a day. Olympic athletes have seen the light (or dark) as well. They make a point of bedding down at least 8 hours every night — and they make sure they take a 90-minute nap each day as well.

Some day, one hopes, smart employers will grab a clue and set aside guilt-free nap rooms for their employees.

In the meantime, you and I could function as counter-insurgents. We could strike a blow for listless workers everywhere — and plant the seeds for workplace revolution in our own bosses' minds.

Do the Big Kahuna a favour: nod off at your desk today.

Trent Severn water levels report

A considerable loss occurred from the reserve lakes in Haliburton over the past week with their decline of about 4.5 per cent to a 51.5 per cent average. This was due primarily to the dry conditions, since near minimum flow was being run to the Kawartha Lakes and the canal system.

In 1997, the levels were only about 2.5 per cent higher at this date than now, because of some very dry conditions that occurred then too.

The rain early last week had a greater effect on the Kawarthas than in Haliburton. It raised Rice Lake and several others beyond their proper full level so some surplus became available. An increase to the Otonabee and Trent rivers was made to reduce the surplus.

Lake Simcoe-Couchiching is holding up well, having received considerable rain. This allows for a higher than normal outflow to the Severn river, while the lake remains above its long term average for the time of year.

This report was prepared by Parks Canada on Monday August 31.

Kash Dash

The Kash Dash to raise funds to send doctors to underdeveloped countries attracted a field of 134 runners, including 35 children. Tom Lobsinger of Orillia was the fastest of the men to finish the 10 kilometre run. His time was 34 minutes and 15 seconds. Lisa Burrows of Orillia was the fastest female to complete the 10k run, with a time of 40:35. The top male and female runners from the county were Blake Paton (38:12) and Kristy Gammon (49:00). The 1k run for kids saw Jessie Foster finish first, with a time of 3:41. Thomas Irwin was a close second (3:43), Belinda Howitt was third (3:44) and her sister Melanie Howitt was fourth (3:46).

Poster contest winners enjoy a day of fishing

Winners of the third annual poster contest, co-sponsored by the Haliburton Highlands Outdoors Association and the Ontario Conservation Officers' Association spent the day fishing as part of their prize.

This year, students from the Grade 5 classes at J.D. Hodgson Elementary School in Haliburton participated in the contest.

"We had a great day," said Barry Walker, a conservation officer with the Minden office of the Ministry of Natural Resources. He admitted that the fishing was tough, but they did catch enough walleyes for a shore lunch. The catch included a smallmouth bass weighing about four pounds, a couple of three pound largemouth bass and walleyes ranging up to almost four pounds.

The event is centered around the Take a Kid Fishing Week promotion by the MNR. The trip was originally scheduled for earlier in August, but was postponed because of rain.

The poster winners were Nichole Pockett, Erin Beggs, Emily Roberts, Korey Kyle, Josh Fick and Greg Barry. They were accompanied by conservation officers Barry Walker, Bob Gater and Dan Smith, as well as Mark Schell of the HHOA and Glen Fick. Four boats were used for the day's excursion.

All Poster winners received rod and reel sets as well as some tackle.

TEST PROGRAM

by Tom Ecclestone

Canning Lake's Dave Bunker is in a position to be acclaimed our area's top match play golfer of the season. Dave has advanced to the semi finals in both the Blairhampton Club Championship and the Highlands-Echo Open at the Haliburton Highlands Golf Club.

In the opening round at Haliburton, Bunker defeated Rick Wood 7 and 6, then eliminated Larry Rosenberg 3 and 2 in the second round. At Blairhampton Golf Club, Bunker, who when not golfing is a physical education teacher at Lawrence Heights Middle School in North York, easily won his first match 6 and 5 over Bob McDougall, then gave his father a clinic, beating Bruce Bunker 7 and 5 in the second round.

For those unfamiliar with match play golf, the recent Men's U.S. Amateur at Oak Hill in Rochester, New York was a match play format. Two opponents will compete against each other hole by hole. Simply put, if you get the lowest score on any hole you win a point. That point would make you one up. Should your opponent win the next hole, the match would then be even.

In the match Bunker vs Bunker, Dave was seven holes up with only five holes left. This meant the match was over with Bruce having no chance to win. It's a great format and helps keep you in the game despite the eight or nine you may have had early in your round.

The third Annual R and R Junior Golf Tournament was a huge success at Haliburton Highlands Golf Course. A record field of 68 young ladies and gentlemen competed in the event founded by golf buddies Ryan Hutson and Ryan Wood. Taking the junior girls division was Christine Bunker with a nine hole total of 54. Jenny Moynes topped the senior girls with a 59. Gord Timbers was first in the junior boys with a 41 and Josh Shaw carded a 37 to take the senior title.

The R and R Committee was extremely pleased with the turnout and would like to thank the many sponsors, as well as the Highlands Golf Course, for their support.

Round two results

'New Galway' residents continue quest to join Haliburton

Some residents of Galway Township are determined to exhaust every avenue in their quest to become part of Haliburton County. Peter Charters, representative of the residents who are in favour of a realignment from Peterborough to Haliburton, attended the Haliburton County Steering Committee meeting August 25 to ask if Haliburton is interested in having "New Galway" join the fold.

"We've been looking for some time to find the right buttons to push to get out of Peterborough County and into Haliburton County," Charters told council. "We already share the same police and emergency services as well as telephone exchange."

He added that it is awkward to get to the City of Peterborough by road from the north-west corner of the county.

Another reason the New Galway residents are eager to make the move is the potential for a lower tax bill.

"The big question is will Peterborough County let us go?" Charters said. "We have to prove to Peterborough that they wouldn't lose very much. We have to convince Galway-Cavendish-Harvey first."

Charters asked council members if they thought North Galway would be an asset to Haliburton County. He noted that it would increase the population by about 2,600. It would also increase the land area.

"We already have 911, so it wouldn't cost any more to implement," he pointed out. "We have a landfill site and only a small part of Highway 507 would have to be transferred," Charters said.

Warden Murray Fearrey asked if there was any sort of time frame. Charters replied that the committee was hoping to have the numbers prepared in time to approach every municipal council in Peterborough County by the spring of 1999.

Councillor Keith Tallman commented that he thought such a realignment would "be good for Haliburton County."

Councillor Jim McMahon said, "Geographically, it makes sense."

Charters said the committee has revised its approach.

"Last year we tried to take all of Galway-Cavendish and the lower half didn't want to go to Haliburton," he said.

To counter, the committee proposes severing the northern part of Galway and a small portion of Cavendish, and called it New Galway. Charters said New Galway could join with Snowdon Township.

"We're prepared to fight very hard on this problem."

Council agreed to draft a letter stating that Haliburton County would support New Galway's realignment bid.

Pete Skov wins HLPOA 'Open'

The Horseshoe Lake Property Owners' Association held its annual mixed golf tournament Sunday, August 22 at the Blairhampton Golf Course, with about 70 golfers participating.

The age range was from young teens to mature seniors. After the competition and a lunch at the golf course, participants gathered at the Searle's cottage for the presentations.

Dave Wilson, the event organizer, presented the Horseshoe Lake Trophy to Pete Skov, who shot a nine-hole round of 35. Prizes were also awarded to the top two women golfers, Pat Christie and Sharon Delorenzi, who tied with scores of 50.

Hole-in-one

Another hole in one has been recorded at Blairhampton Golf Course.

Bill Muirhead aced the 173-yard eighth hole recently, using a seven iron. The feat was witnessed by Jeff Muirhead.

INDOOR ART: Minden artist John Lennard took some time off from his work on the mural in Minden to enjoy the Rails' End Gallery opening of his show of recent paintings. The show has been a success, with Lennard selling several pieces. Many of the pieces depict some of his favourite scenes from Haliburton County and Algonquin Park. The show runs until September 12.

HELPING HAND:

Haliburton Highlands Health Services Board member Don Hall, left, accepts a cheque for more than $750 from Ken Vivian. The money is being donated for the Hospital capital project. Ken and his wife Bev, owners of South Lake Trailer Park, held a yard sale with their campers last month to raise the

South Lake corn roast marks a flavourful finale to summer

submitted by Ken Brown

There were winners only at South Lake Association's annual Corn Roast on August 22.

Terry and John Simpson welcomed more than a hundred guests to their attractive lakeside property for a pleasant, low-key gathering of neighbours, friends and families on a lovely sunny Saturday afternoon.

The members arrived at a leisurely pace carrying deck chairs and grandchildren. But whether they travelled by boat, car or just walked, their first stop was at Phyllis De Grace's barbecue station.

The popular hot dog crew was busy all afternoon serving delicious sauteed onions with hot buns and custom-cooked dogs. There was never a let up for cooks — John Elliot and his daughter, plus Gayle Rowett, Jacqui McCutcheon, John Lymer and Helen McKirdy.

We of the sedentary set positioned our deck chairs close enough to watch the kids' tug of war, sack races, and the sponge game, but safely out of range of the sticky egg tossing competition. Our Social Chairman, Alan Foxton, with Wilma's assistance, kept the games program moving without a hitch. Katie Moore made the best guess in the jelly bean contest and Cathy Mason won the draw for closest in her estimate of mints in the jar.

It is typical of those association members who live year round or just vacation on South Lake that even at a social event they would not lose sight of a commitment to preserving the quality of their shared natural resource... South Lake. Roberta Von Belkon, assisted by husband Eto and Phyllis Brown, conducted a highly successful penny auction with great variety of interesting gifts. All proceeds from the auction and profits from hot dog sales are assigned to financing our lake study project conducted by scientist Dr. Gertrud Nureberg, Ph.D. Copies of this valuable assessment of the geochemistry of our lake are available to each member of the lake association.

The highlight of the South Lake Corn Roast was of course — corn. Tom Nicholson's chefs Jeff Martin and Ian Colquhoun stoked the fires under huge kettles while cooking a boatload of succulent cobs. Everyone regardless of age was enjoying ripe flavourful Ontario corn slathered in butter and salt. All the while, the clang of horse shoes and cheers for a ringer provided a background to the food, conversation, fun and games.

John and Terry Simpson organized a great horseshoe tournament but even they could not defeat the reigning champions Jacqui McCutcheon and Ray Lymer.

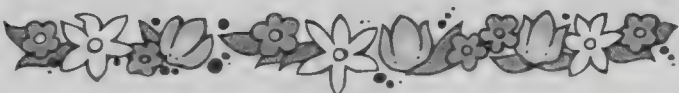

If you gained the impression our lake-side picnic had the air of a family reunion — you are right. It is a clear reflection of why 90 per cent of property owners on South Lake are paid up members of the lake association.

Fall fair returns to Kinmount

Kinmount was a traffic jam of fun this weekend as thousands of people enjoyed themselves at the Kinmount Fall Fair. The parade down the main street is always one of the highlights of the annual fair and this year was no exception. Dozens of floats, horses, clowns, antique cars and other participants rolled through town. Kinmount Fair Queen of 1998-99 Amy Ehmann and Princess Melissa Simmons, both of Kinmount, were on hand to oversee the festivities. Although the parade held up traffic for some time, it was well worth the wait.

CHACE getting ready for a new year

As the big kids head off to school for another year of learning some of Haliburton County's smaller children may have the opportunity to join in on the fun. CHACE day care is offering spaces in their programs this fall and will hold an open house this month for families looking for a day care facility.

CHACE (County of Haliburton Agency of Child Enrichment) Day Care is gearing up for another busy year of fun and learning for the children of Haliburton County. The day care offers several programs for children aged 15 months to 12 years of age on a part-time, full-time and after school basis. The organization's executive director feels that CHACE offers an excellent approach to learning, co-operation, and preparation to enter the school environment. "It's pretty well a routine, which is good for kids," said Sue Doan. "It's quite structured but it's a lot of fun. We help prepare the children for kindergarten." Doan feels that important part of adapting to the school environment is learning to play and learn with other children and understanding the surroundings.

The day care offers various programs including a toddler program, a pre-school program as well as a school age program. All of the programs include, games, crafts and a chance for children to interact with their peers, either in preparation for school or just for fun. The toddler program offers a structured program that also includes toilet training if needed. The school age program includes school aged children up to 12. The program leader meets the children at Archie Stouffer after school and takes them to CHACE for movies, games, computer time among other activities.

Another feature of the CHACE program is the special needs program available to children who require specific programs. CHACE, with the help of Family Services of Haliburton County can offer a one-on-one program for special needs children.

CHACE will be holding an open house on September 19 from 9:00 a.m. until noon, for prospective families to visit the facility. The open house will include a kid's used book and clothing sale as well as a special appearance of Clifford the Big Red Dog.

Anthony Hopkins' £1 M helps kick off the Snowdon appeal through the rain, the 60-year-old star said the wilderness and grandeur of Snowdon, which he first visited in 1956, has stayed with him forever. Sir Anthony, son of a Port Talbot baker, was appointed president of the Snowdonia Appeal in 1990.

He said he agreed to take on the role after witnessing what he described as "the wholesale destruction and industrial vandalism of the area around my birthplace, Margam, in south Wales".

Sitting on a rock and glancing over to the impressive Hafod-y-Llan Falls, the actor, who was awarded a knighthood in 1993, said he wanted to see "the preservation of Snowdon forever for the nation".

"I love Wales. It is important for me as a Welshman.

"Snowdon is a great mythological symbol of Wales. It is wild and untamed. It can also give the sense of our place in the environment - a sense of humility and respect for all life and all nature," he said.

Asked about his £1 million donation to the appeal, which was launched on August 5, Sir Anthony added: "I am not a do-gooder. I just thought I could make a bit of a contribution and I could encourage people to give.

"I have had a good life as an actor and just thought I'd like to put something back."

Pressed on the generosity of his contribution, the actor added jokingly:

"I've got a day job, you know."

However, he refused to say whether he would step in should the National Trust fail to reach its target of more than £3 million by the end of October.

Sir Anthony was greeted on the mountainside by the current landowner, Richard Williams, who inherited the Hafod-y-Llan and Gelli Iago estates from his grandfather in 1988.

He talked of the difficult decision to sell the land, which includes one third of the summit of Snowdon and part of Cnicht, also known as the Matterhorn of Wales.

"This beautiful part of Snowdon has been close to my heart all my life - in summer and winter I have walked it, farmed the land and enjoyed the wildlife.

"It was a difficult decision to sell, but I know that the National Trust shares many of my concerns over the care of the countryside. They will work to ensure that this land is farmed and managed for the benefit of the local community and the nation as a whole," said Mr Williams.

Mr Williams, whose family has farmed the estates since the 17th century, added: "It was also my hope that a Welshman would buy this land and the National Trust will undoubtedly act as responsible owners for the Welsh interest."

Richard Cuthbertson, chairman of the National Trust's Committee for Wales, praised Sir Anthony's commitment to the cause.

"It is incredible that a guy who has so many calls on his time should come here today.

"He is a figurehead who is genuinely concerned about the cause. We are very lucky to have someone who is famous and is prepared to show such commitment," he said.

Mr Cuthbertson also defended the National Trust against detractors who claim the organisation was rich enough to buy Snowdon without launching a public campaign.

"We have an annual revenue of around £145 million and by far the greatest amount of that goes on the routine maintenance of properties and open space.

"It actually leaves a very small amount for acquisitions - just a few million is available.

"Not all those acquisitions capture the public imagination as Snowdon has.

"We need to keep that money to buy properties or land which are important but wouldn't necessarily attract public support," he said.

The Snowdon Appeal Fund currently stands at just over £1.5 million. A further £100,000 was handed to Sir Anthony Hopkins today by power generating company First Hydro.

The actor said a further £2 million was needed to complete the sale with an extra £750,000 needed for maintenance.

Editor's note: The story about the sale of Snowdon Mountain was brought to our attention by a reporter from the BBC in Wales, whose research had led him to investigate other places in the world bearing the Snowdon name. Searching the World Wide Web he discovered the Haliburton Highlands Snowdon mentioned many times on the Times OnLine website.

September is always a busy time of year – for kids, parents and teachers alike. It's an exciting time, too, a time when Ontario's kids have great expectations for the coming year. As parents, teachers and government, we need to meet these expectations. That's why we're doing so much to help them achieve their full potential, and make this year the best school year yet. - Mike Harris

Quality education.
It's about putting kids first.

Move complete, residents settle in

How many of you can imagine having to move 22 people in just two or three days, and have them completely settled, including their pictures on the wall, before they went to bed. Well you should have been here to witness how well everything went. The "big move" began on Friday and by the end of the weekend all 22 were in their new rooms. We were so impressed with the team work involved and the consideration given to us residents who were moving quarters. It was just wonderful moving into beautifully finished rooms. Our hats go off to everybody who was involved and our thanks to them all.

Needless to say while this was going on there were no special activities however prior to this, last Thursday we were happy to have the Minden Women's Institute with us for our birthday tea party. Quite a few of us attended and greatly enjoyed the goodies. Thank you to the Minden W.I. for spending time with us and providing the treats.

Later that evening a group of us joined in "quiet time". Donna was with us once again filling in for Barbara who is on vacation. It was good to have Donna back with us and we thanks her. Reverend Burgess managed to carry on his pastoral visitations on Sunday in spite of the big move.

The week began slowly as the dust settled from the big move. On Monday a few of us helped to prepare some veggies for a garden lunch. Those of us who participated enjoyed tucking into a delicious casserole and it was really great to eat outdoors on the patio. Many thanks to the volunteers who organized and cooked for us.

By Tuesday we began to settle back into our routine once again. Chapel was held in the morning with Reverend Shepherd who was assisted by Barbara and Jean. The service was very well attended. In the afternoon the craft group continued to work on items for the Christmas Bazaar.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Anne Mackay who passed away on September 2 in her 92nd year. Anne was born in Scotland and our sympathy goes to Christine, her daughter, who is one of our volunteers. Condolences are also extended to the rest of the family and friends of Anne.

On Wednesday Lola Prentice, Muriel Harrison and

Nina Prentice were picked up by Lenora (Lola's daughter-in-law) and taken to Jasper's for lunch. The lunch was to celebrate Muriel's birthday. They reported that the food was good and excellent service. All in all, a good outing. Later that evening we were entertained once more by the Norland Hillbillies. We certainly enjoy their time with us. Real toe-tapping music.

A warm welcome to Marion Chinery, our newest resident, who joined us on the second.

Well we are back again to Thursday and time for our weekly tea party. Today we are expecting the Kinmount Legion here to host. We're sure that we will enjoy having them. No more news at present but we have a couple of announcements to make.

Birthday greetings go out to Reita Harrison who celebrates on September ninth and Bessie Burk on the fourteenth. Happy Birthday ladies. Hope you enjoy your special day. Also our congratulations go to Mary McCallum and her husband Eric, who celebrate their 59th wedding anniversary on September ninth.

Well, the nights are definitely getting cooler now and just think how nice it would be to snuggle down under a brand new quilt. You need to buy some tickets on our quilt draw. This quilt is just gorgeous and handmade. Tickets are available at our office here and at many locations in town. Proceeds go to the residents council.

Well, we must sign off now. We hope everyone enjoys a safe and happy Labour Day weekend. Where has the summer gone?

Around the County Town

by Nora Snyder (call 286-4425)

As I write, we are heading into the Labour Day weekend. So many things change. The days are much shorter. Kids are happy to be heading back to school but the school world is so unsettled between the teachers and the government. The tourist industry is changing to a different group of travellers. They will be coming to see the fall colours and to have a quieter holiday than during the summer months. A beautiful time of year.

Some thank you's this week: Susan at The Times for her generous gift; Marion Hill for her beets fresh out of her garden which I thoroughly enjoyed; Phil Graham who called about the bird and confirmed it was a Green Heron and not the cormorant as my friend had suggested. He said they have been around here for ages and he has heard their strange call, seen them in his trees and even walking on the lawn occasionally.

The Minden Public Library is celebrating its 100th birthday, 1898 to 1998!!! There will be a big birthday party on Thursday, September 17 at the Library on Bobcaygeon Road from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. Come out and join the Library Committee for a piece of birthday cake, some stories and a prize for the best costume, reflecting the 1898 period or your favorite literary character.

The Minden Women's Institute plans to have its September 16 meeting at the home of Mary Wilson on Highway 35 just past Jug City at 1:30 p.m. Members and other women are welcome. The W.I. will also participate at Victoria District Big Buck Euchre at Coboconk Community Centre on September 10. Here they will assist with other W.I. branches by supplying pies and muffins and they will also play in the games. Some tickets are still available. Please call 286-1618

The Minden and District Horticultural Society will be holding its fall plant sale Friday, September 11 at 2:00 p.m., at the Gazebo across the bridge, next to the river. Get there early!!!

Haliburton Highlands Genealogy Group is sponsoring an information meeting with professional researcher Ruth Burkholder. The topic is "What family history information can I get from Census, Vital Statistics and Land Records?". Bring your questions and/or problems. The meeting will be held on Wednesday, September 9 at 7:00 p.m. at the Agnes Jamieson Gallery and Library building. Admission is free. For more information, please call Carol at 489-1642.

Richard and Anne Wright from Blantyre, Scotland are visiting with the Beers family and other area friends. That's why I got a gift from Susan as she was cleaning for this visit and discovered things hidden away that she didn't need anymore!!!

The Haliburton Rug Hooking Group had a very busy summer. On June 23 a few of their members joined member Lettie Thain in Wilberforce for a hook-in and a grand tour of the town. The group had a rug hooking display and demonstration table at the Quilt, Rug and Fibre Art Show in July, the Haliburton County Fair and the Kinmount Fair. Congratulations to May Bradbury, Peggy Beattie and Kathy Beckford for the prizes they won for their beautiful pieces. Their new season starts on September 14 at 10:00 a.m. at the West Guilford Community Centre. They will be having an on-going workshop taught by Peggy Beattie. Everyone is invited to join this group which meets on the first and third Monday of each month. For more information please call Carole Bullen at 286-4123.

The pride of Newfoundland will gather on South Lake over the September 11 weekend at the lovely lakeside cottage of Mr. and Mrs. DeGrace. Phyllis is hosting a reunion for her long time buddies from St. John's.... Deanne, Barb, Bernice, Judy, another Phyllis, Marlene and Liz. While standing on the shoreline they will, along with their hostess, chant in unison, M R DUCKS! M R NOT! M R LOONS! Dutiful husband Kevin, has laboured night and day on cottage renovations to ensure the comfort of these VIPs from the "Rock".

I hope you all had a great long weekend and that you all slide comfortably into fall !!

SCORING NEWS

On August 31, St. Paul's Friendship Club had a great afternoon of Euchre. Marie Dennie won lone hands. Isabel Cherwenka was high woman and Jack Chilton was high man. Jeanne Sears took away the 50/50 draw. Great way to spend a Monday afternoon!

Duplicate Bridge at Echo Hills on August 27 had the following high scorers: playing North/South were first, Sharon Carruthers and Nick Lehoczy and second, Muriel McIntosh and Russ Fair; in the East/West position were first, Joan Galley and Norma Crewson and second, Marianne Honc and Dorothy Pinkney.

At Park Lane, on September 2: in the North/South spot, Kelly Metcalf and Norman Wheeler were first. This week Kelly found a new partner and came in first to keep up with his wife's good fortune last week with a new partner!! Second were Alex McLeod and Mike Collins and third, Vera Carnochan and Mayme Douglas. Across the tables in the East/West position, Stella McMillan and Ross Davies were first, Joyce Burtch and Norma Crewson, second, Betty Dicker and Ross Fletcher were third. With time to reflect in Toronto, Ross must have decided to hang in there with Betty and it paid off with their third place showing !!

At Stanhope Bid Euchre, on September 2, 15 moonshots were won. A record by my reckoning!! There were also three holders of the hidden score. It sounds like a night of good luck!! The high scores were Norm Lee, 255; Willy Cox and Mary Schad with 266; June Branning, 268; Dorothy Walters, 292; and the top score, Gloria Moore with 301.

Now that Marg McAfee is back at her post we have the scores for two nights of Bid Euchre at the Minden Legion. On August 25, the high scores were taken by Ellie Langpohl, Shirley Elcome and Isabel Cherwenka. Iris Taylor held the hidden score. At this meeting there were no moonshots! On September first this group had two Moonshots won by Iris Taylor and Marg McAfee!! Hidden score found Marie Dennie and Georgina Parkes, Marcel Roussel and Pat Roussel were the high scorers. Congratulations to all!!

Len and Mary McNeice were happy to emerge from their long siesta at the Sand Banks. Mary brought along delicious Nanaimo bars for the group. Len distinguished himself by bidding and making a small slam with his partner Pearl Foster AND coming in first with a score of 6070!! In second place was Pearl Foster with 5550, closely followed by Stan Hill with 5490, closely followed by Dorothy Strype with 5440. Nine and a half tables played, so the numbers are staying up there!!

Last Monday evening, at Club 35, I mean August 31, there was the usual good turnout, good cards and good fun. The 50/50 draw was won by Wayne Farr; lone hands by Helen Windsor; high woman, Barry Thrash; high man, Murray Daniels; low woman, Helen Henderson; low man, Wally Harpur; baloney, Darryl Stiver. There were two special awards going to Olive Daniels and Cliff Woolner.

Euchre at the Minden Legion, played on August 27 had the following winners: most lone hands were Ellie Langpohl and Jack Chilton; high scores were taken by Esther Lee and Elva Paisley and the low by Judy Hunt and Marie Dennie; other prizes were won by Maxine Cross, Helen Skelding, Iris Taylor and Frank Campagnolo.

Here's wishing you another good week of cards!!

Here's wishing all of us a good week in beautiful September!!! See you here next week!!

CARDS OF THANKS

The family of Anne Mackay wish to express their thanks to the Hyland Crest "family". To the staff in Nursing, Food Service, Administration, Cleaning and Maintenance, you gave Mom a wonderfully caring service that made my mother's time at Hyland Crest so much better. To the Residents - thank you for helping my mother feel at home in so many ways. To the Activities Staff and Volunteers - you are such a value added component - my Mom's last two years were so enhanced by the trips, parties and teas and the many regular programs provided. We especially want to say how much we appreciated the caring attitude and warmth we felt for Mom and ourselves during the last weeks - to Linda Gonzales-Williams, Joanne Ecclestone, Darcey Burke, Tracey Parrish and Lynda Robertson, Nancy Lee and Janet Donnelly - God Bless you all.
Christine and Tom Macartney.
